

Hello,

Thanks for your patience with our emails today! We have some extra information we didn't want to leave out. All major emails have been posted to the bottom of the Org Support webpage if you need to go back and review any communications at go.osu.edu/SIFOrgSupport.

Preparing to Chat

People who visit your booth will likely ask you a variety of questions. To prepare yourselves to have high quality interactions, we have prepared a list of questions that potential members may ask, the answers to which you may want to consider sharing with people who visit your booth:

Logistics:

- What is the commitment level asked of new members?
- How often do you meet?
- How flexible and accommodating is this org to members' needs, interests and time?
- What will the onboarding experience look like?
- How is the organization operating virtually?
- What should I expect next if I mark that I'm interested?
- Who can I reach out to after the fair with questions?

Opportunities:

- How early can a new member begin participating in projects/planning/initiatives?
- What are other resources can your organization connect me with?
- How do you interact with the larger community?
- What is the pathway to leadership like in this org?
- What are the top 3 skills used or gained by members?
- How do members utilize this experience post-graduation?

Reflection:

- What do you wish you'd known about this org or field before you joined?
- What have been your top 2 favorite experiences with this org?
- What brought you to this organization?
- What are some shared interests you feel like you have with your fellow members?
- What experiences made you look for this organization when you got to campus?
- What has your biggest achievement been as an organization?
- What is a personal value you share with this organization's values and mission?

Contacting the SIF Team During the Fair:

On the day of the fair, if you need assistance, you can reach us at the "Information Booth" within CampusGroups, or you can call us at 614-292-8763. Emails will not have as fast of a response on the day of the fair, but you are still welcome to reach out at SIFair@osu.edu.

What to expect post-fair:

Our team will follow up with you via email after the fair with instructions for how to export contact information of interest students, suggestions for what to do next, and upcoming opportunities.

Best,
Morgan, Sri Vidya, Brooke, and Jen
